Templates for Part 1, Part 2 & Part 3 | 50+ Band 7 Phrases

10 Sample Answers | Quick-Reference Cheat Sheet

Designed for Band 6.5-7 target students

SECTION 1 | How to Use This Pack

This pack is designed to be studied, memorized, and practiced — in that order. Don't read templates robotically in the exam; internalize them so they flow naturally.

STEP 1 STUDY	Read each section carefully. Understand the purpose of every template. Highlight the ones that you like.
STEP 2 MEMORIZE	Pick 3-5 templates per day. Say them out loud. Write them by hand. Repeat until automatic.
STEP 3 PRACTICE	Use templates in real speaking practice. pielts.web.app has free AI speaking sessions - use them!

Recommended Daily Practice Schedule

15 minutes/day x 2 weeks = exam-ready speaking

Days 1-3: Study Sections 1-3 (Part 1 & Part 2 frameworks)

Days 4-6: Study Sections 4-5 (Part 3 & Vocabulary)

Days 7-10: Study Sections 6-7 (Discourse markers & Fillers)

Days 11-14: Full practice using Section 8 sample answers + cheat sheet

Important: Adapt every template to your own voice. Replace bracketed parts with your own ideas.

3 Sample Part 1 Answers

Q: Tell me about your hometown.

Personally, I'd say Kathmandu is one of the most fascinating cities in South Asia - it has this incredible mix of ancient temples and modern cafes. One thing I've noticed over the years is that it's grown incredibly fast, bringing both opportunities and challenges. I've always found the energy there quite unique.

Q: How do you usually spend your evenings?

In my experience, evenings are the best time to decompress. I tend to gravitate towards reading or watching something educational online - I'm much more of a quiet evening person. I've always been drawn to learning new things, so I often use that time to study.

Q: Do you enjoy cooking?

I've always found cooking quite therapeutic. Personally, I'd say preparing a meal from scratch gives real satisfaction. I remember when I first learned my mother's recipes - it took ages but was worth it. Between the two, I'd definitely say I prefer home cooking.

SECTION 3 | Part 2 — Cue Card Framework (IDER)

Part 2 requires 1 min 45 sec - 2 minutes of speaking. The IDER framework fills the time naturally.

I - INTRODUCE	State what you're talking about. Set the scene. (15-20 sec)
D - DESCRIBE	Give concrete details: what, who, where, when. (35-40 sec)
E - ELABORATE	Explain why it matters / how it made you feel. (30-35 sec)
R - REFLECT	Step back - overall thoughts or what you learned. (20-25 sec)

Generic Part 2 Opener Template

I'd like to talk about [person / place / event / experience].

This is someone / somewhere / something that [brief connection to your life].

I first [encountered / visited / experienced] this [time reference], and it has stayed with me ever since.

Example: "Describe a person you admire"

INTRODUCE:

I'd like to talk about my secondary school English teacher, Mr. Sharma. He was someone who had a profound influence on the way I think about learning.

DESCRIBE:

He was in his late forties, quite soft-spoken but incredibly passionate about literature. His classes were different - he never just taught from a textbook. I remember when he brought in newspaper articles and asked us to debate them.

ELABORATE:

What I particularly admired was his patience. In my experience, teachers like him are rare. Because of him, I developed a love for reading that I still have today.

REFLECT:

Looking back, I think he was one of the most important people in my academic life. From my perspective, a great teacher shapes how you see the world.

SECTION 4 | Part 3 — Discussion Phrase Templates

Part 3 is a two-way discussion. The examiner asks abstract questions. Argue, speculate, compare and reason.

Agreeing & Extending

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
I think that's absolutely right, and what's more...	...the data consistently supports this view.
That's a fair point. I'd also add that...	...younger generations seem particularly affected.
Exactly - and it's worth noting that...	...this trend has accelerated in recent years.

Disagreeing Politely

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
That's a valid point, though I'd argue...	...that the benefits outweigh the drawbacks.
I can see where that argument comes from, but.....	I think the reality is more nuanced.
While that may be true in some cases...	...I'd say the overall picture is quite different.

Speculating

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
It's hard to say for certain, but I'd imagine...	...that attitudes will shift significantly over the next decade.
I suppose it depends on...	...the social and economic context of each country.
It's quite possible that...	...technology will completely replace certain jobs.

Comparing

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
In contrast to...	...developed nations, developing countries face unique challenges.
Whereas X tends to...	...rural areas tend to be more traditional, urban centres embrace change.
There's a significant difference between...	...how older and younger generations view this issue.

Sample Part 3 Exchange

Q: Do you think governments should do more to protect the environment?

I think that's absolutely the right question to be asking. From my perspective, governments have a fundamental responsibility - they have legislative power to enforce change that individuals cannot. That said, I'd argue that it's not enough on its own. I genuinely believe a cultural shift in how people consume is equally important. All in all, the two need to happen together.

SECTION 5 | 50+ Band 7 Vocabulary Phrases by Topic

These are phrases, not just words. Learn them in context.

Technology

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
the digital landscape	The digital landscape has transformed how businesses operate.
seamlessly integrated	Technology has been seamlessly integrated into everyday life.
unprecedented connectivity	We live in an era of unprecedented connectivity.
algorithm-driven content	Social media relies on algorithm-driven content to engage users.
data privacy concerns	Data privacy concerns are increasingly shaping tech policy.

Environment

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
carbon footprint	Reducing our carbon footprint is a shared global responsibility.
sustainable practices	Businesses are adopting more sustainable practices under pressure.
ecological impact	The ecological impact of mass tourism is often overlooked.
biodiversity loss	Biodiversity loss poses a serious threat to ecosystems.
renewable energy transition	The renewable energy transition is gaining momentum worldwide.

Education

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
holistic development	Modern education should focus on holistic development, not just grades.
critical thinking skills	Critical thinking skills are more valuable than rote memorization.
academic rigour	Elite universities are known for their academic rigour.
lifelong learning	In today's economy, lifelong learning is no longer optional.

Health & Wellbeing

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
mental wellbeing	Mental wellbeing is finally receiving the attention it deserves.
sedentary lifestyle	A sedentary lifestyle significantly increases health risks.
preventative healthcare	Investing in preventative healthcare reduces long-term costs.
work-life balance	Many professionals struggle to maintain a healthy work-life balance.

Society & Culture

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
social cohesion	Social cohesion is weakened when inequality becomes too extreme.
generational shift	There's been a notable generational shift in attitudes towards work.
cultural heritage	Preserving cultural heritage is vital for national identity.
urbanisation trends	Rapid urbanisation trends are reshaping communities globally.

Work & Career

Phrase / Template	Use It Like This
career trajectory	Many young people actively plan their career trajectory from early on.
entrepreneurial mindset	An entrepreneurial mindset is increasingly valued by employers.
remote working culture	The remote working culture has permanently altered office norms.
professional development	Continuous professional development is expected in most fields.

SECTION 6 | Discourse Markers & Linking Words

Discourse markers signal organised thinking. Use them to connect ideas - but don't overuse any single one.

Adding ideas

PRO TIP: Use a different discourse marker each time. Repeating 'However' five times signals limited range - exactly what examiners penalise.

SECTION 7 | Filler Phrases — Buy Thinking Time Naturally

'Um' and 'uh' signal hesitation and hurt your score. These phrases buy you 3-5 seconds and sound natural and confident. Drill them until automatic.

That's a really interesting question - let me think about that for a moment.

Off the top of my head, I'd say...

I haven't really thought about this before, but I suppose...

That's quite a complex topic, actually. I'd say...

It depends on how you look at it, but generally speaking...

There are a few different ways to think about this...

That's something I feel quite strongly about, actually...

Let me think... I'd probably say...

Practice drill

Set a 2-minute timer. Ask yourself any question. Start every answer with a different filler phrase. Do this 5 times per day for one week. By exam day, these will flow naturally.

SECTION 8 | 10 Sample Answers by Topic

Each sample shows a Band 7 answer. Templates are shown in bold so you can see how they're woven in naturally.

1. Hometown & Cities

Q: Do you prefer living in a city or a small town?

Personally, I'd say cities offer more opportunities, but they come at a cost. One thing I've noticed over the years is that life in a smaller town is much more community-focused. Having said that, I've been living in a city for a few years and genuinely love the energy. If I had to choose, I'd probably stay in the city for now - but I think I'd want to return to a quieter place eventually.

2. Technology & Social Media

Q: How much time do you spend on your phone each day?

Off the top of my head, I'd say probably four to five hours - which I know is quite a lot. In my experience, most of that is messaging and reading articles. Personally, I'd say I have a complicated relationship with my phone. One thing I've noticed is that it can easily fragment your attention. I've always been drawn to the idea of digital detox weekends, though I rarely manage to follow through.

3. Environment & Climate

Q: Do you try to do things to help the environment?

I genuinely believe that individual actions matter, even if they feel small. In my experience, once you start paying attention to your environmental impact, it changes how you shop, eat and travel. Having said that, I think the bigger change needs to come from governments - individual behaviour alone can't solve a systemic problem.

4. Education & Learning

Q: What's the best way to learn a new skill?

I've always found that the most effective way to learn anything is by doing it, not just reading about it. From my perspective, theoretical knowledge is only useful if it's applied in practice. Take language learning as an example - you can memorize grammar rules all day, but fluency comes from actual conversation. I tend to gravitate towards methods that involve immediate feedback.

5. Work & Career

Q: Is it important to enjoy your job?

From my perspective, job satisfaction is absolutely essential for long-term wellbeing. I've always believed that people who enjoy their work are more productive and healthier. That said, I recognize that not everyone has the luxury of choosing a job they love. I suppose it depends on where you are in life. All in all, finding meaning in what you do should be a goal, not a luxury.

6. Travel & Tourism

Q: Do you prefer travelling alone or with others?

Between the two, I'd definitely say I prefer travelling with close friends. I remember when I travelled alone for the first time - it was liberating but quite lonely at times. Having said that, solo travel forces you to be more resourceful. In contrast, group travel means you share the experience and memories. I've always been drawn to a mix of both.

7. Health & Lifestyle

Q: How important is exercise to you?

I'd have to say it's become increasingly important to me. Looking back, I used to be quite sedentary - long hours at a desk, not enough movement. One thing I've noticed is that even 30 minutes of walking changes my mood significantly. From my perspective, physical health and mental wellbeing are inseparable.

8. Family & Relationships

Q: How has the role of family changed in modern society?

That's quite a complex topic, actually. I'd say the definition of family has broadened. Whereas previous generations lived in extended family units, modern families are more nuclear. In my experience, technology has helped maintain bonds across distances. Having said that, I think there's a real loss in terms of day-to-day connection.

9. Media & News

Q: Do you trust the news you read online?

I haven't really thought about this in a structured way before, but I suppose my honest answer is: it depends on the source. In my experience, mainstream outlets have editorial standards, even if they have biases. What's more, social media has made it easy for misinformation to spread. From my perspective, media literacy is one of the most important skills people need today.

10. Culture & Traditions

Q: Do you think it's important to preserve cultural traditions?

I genuinely believe it's vital. Cultural traditions are a form of collective memory. That said, I think there's a difference between preserving traditions and being rigid about them. For instance, some traditions evolve over time, and that's natural. What I mean is, preservation shouldn't mean freezing culture in time.

------------------------	-----------------------	------------------------	----------------------

EXAM DAY REMINDER

1. Breathe. Slow down. You know this material.
2. Use a filler phrase to start EVERY answer - never launch straight in.
3. Extend every Part 1 answer to 4-5 sentences minimum.
4. In Part 2, stick to IDER. Don't skip Reflect - it adds 20-25 seconds.
5. In Part 3, argue and reason. Use discourse markers.
6. If you lose your train of thought: 'To put it another way...' and restart.
